French Art creatures settled in Miami

ARTS

By Claire Obry

5:00 PM 11/06/2015

Until December 30th, Miami Beach will have a je ne sais quoi of French touch! Spanning over 5,000 square feet of exhibition space, FRANCE PAVILION will show the power of the creativity of French artists including all media and all forms of Art – Design, Fashion, Jewelry...- exactly what we LOVE at French Wink!

As this global event is orchestrated by the same producers of Best of France, Rod and Sandrine Kukurudz, sure there will be more big surprises to announce in these coming weeks!

Focus of Nadine Debien's creatures

For most of her life, Nadine Debien has had a real passion for art. She began this "Love Story" in high school, and developed it during her College years by taking interior design courses. And yet, Nadine waited for years before making the leap between pure creation which gratifies her every single day with immense happiness and considering commercializing her art!

Starting from pencil and paper, Nadine began to happily focus on sculpture. Her humanoids took a three dimensional turn to answer a request from a South of France gallery owner.

Since then, Nadine has never ceased to create and invade her workshop with these lovable – more than 6 feet – characters.

As soon as she started showing them, her Humanoids were immediately successful! These characters represent a sweet caricature of the world, allowing for a tender, lucid and amused perspective on our daily lives as well as on the humans we encounter.

On view until December 30 at the France Pavilion, ideally located in South Beach: 309 23rd Street (corner at Liberty Ave).
